A Sunny Day in the City
(básico)
Un estilo de vida

On a sunny Saturday, Sally and Sam decided to see the city sights. They started at the sunny park, where songbirds sang sweetly. The soft sound of the breeze soothed them. They saw swans swimming smoothly in the shiny pond.

Next, they took a short stroll to the bustling city center. They saw tall towers touching the sky, and busy buses buzzing by. The cheerful chatter of children chasing each other filled the crisp air.

They stopped at a tiny, tidy cafe, and tasted tasty tea with some toast. Tim, the talkative waiter, told them tales of the towering city.

As the day dimmed, they drove down the winding road, dreaming of the delightful day they had discovered together. Their day was filled with the diverse sounds and sights of the city, from the peaceful park to the thrilling throng of the town.

The Whispering Woods

(Avanzado)

Once upon a chilly dawn in the charming town of Thornfield, there was a whimsical wood where whispers wove through the willows. Theodore, a thoughtful and thorough thinker, thrived there with three thriving thrushes. His hearty laughter echoed through the hollow hills, as he hummed harmonious hymns with his honest heart.

He cherished the cheerful chirps of the chirping birds, and was curious about the curious crickets that chirped in the crisp, cool, night. Theodore's venture through the verdant valley was a voyage filled with vivid visions. He encountered an eerie elf with eager eyes, who revealed the enchanting essence of the endless emerald expanse.

Theodore was intrigued by the intriguing intertwine of icy ivy on the ancient, immense iron gate. Beyond the gate, he found a quaint quarter filled with quirky questions. The rhythm of the rustling leaves resonated through the tranquil twilight, as Theodore realized the remarkable richness of the realm.

His journey through the jaunty jungle jolted his jovial spirit, knitting new knowledge into his noble notion of nature. The kaleidoscopic kingdom kept kindling his keen kinship with the kooky, yet kind-hearted, creatures of the knoll.

As the luminous moonlight lingered on the luscious landscape, Theodore treasured the tantalizing tales of the tranquil trails. His whimsical walk through the whispering woods was a wondrous whirlwind that widened his worldly wisdom.
